FACTORS TO CONSIDER

- Location and Transportation: Consider the camp's location and whether transportation is provided or needed.
- Reviews and Recommendations: Check reviews and ask for recommendations from other parents.
- Activities and Interests: Choose a camp that matches your child's interests and involve them in the decision-making process.
- Specialty or Multi-Activity?: Decide between camps focused on specific activities or those offering a variety of experiences.
- Calculate the Cost: Budget for camp fees, travel, gear, and meals; check for inclusive pricing and available discounts.
- Stance on Safety: Visit camps to review safety protocols, including medical staff availability and supervision during activities.
- Staff Credentials: Verify staff qualifications, training in positive discipline, and first aid certifications.
- Value of Downtime: Balance structured activities with unstructured time for relaxation and personal interests.
